A new collection of oil paintings by Wang Xi depicting his concerns about the environment.

Born 1984, Wang Xi gained both his MA and BA at Sichuan Fine Arts Institute. Currently, he is painting his 'Sleeping Forest' series which go to illustrate his concern on environmental issues. Like others of his generation, Wang Xi raises through his paintings, awareness of the consequences of human greed and exploitation of natural resources and calls for harmony between human and nature.

His painting style is clean and clear cut. Predominantly trees, individually painted, but finely drawn in groups, woodlands and forests to illustrate the effect of clear cutting for timber. Wang Xi generally paints in small sizes which are both popular and meet the need for lively compact oil paintings.
