MASQUERADE OF ANGELS / ELIZABETH HAMILL

Elizabeth Hamill obtained her honours degree in Fine Art from Duncan of Jordanstone College of Art Dundee Scotland.

Exhibited in the UK & New York, she completed many commercial and private artistic projects in an array of styles. She likes to experiment in the layering of colour and be free flowing with the female form, which is the focus of her new work.

Elizabeth has created her own dynamic style which have now become so recognizably part of her. Bold, bright, energetic and full of activity – each of her paintings immediately becomes a talking point. Unlike many established artists, Elizabeth does not paint huge canvases, her works are refreshingly compact and full of vigour.

Masquerade of Angels aptly illustrates Elizabeth's colourful and vibrant interpretation of the female form – skillfully sleek and slender bodies in colourful gowns are the subject of the paintings in this collection, showing her latest works.
